Second Week Gives

Appeals Will Be Made in 50

Figures given out last night by the New York County Chapter of the Red Cross at the end of the second week of the roll call show a total of $175,000 contributed from all boroughs of the city.

To-day through the co-operation of the League of Catholic Women, fifty Catholic churches throughout the city will make an effort to reach each member of their congregations. Each of the Red Cosing session, the most important of the week, disposed of large specimens of Florentine, Tuscan and Gothic furniture and polychrome statuary. This session total was $74,527.

A set of twelve Tuscan walnut crimson velvet arm chairs, fetched the top price of the sale, being acquired by Henry Stymus for $3,340. The same buyer obtained six carved Daniel Marot needlework chairs dating from the late seventeenth century for $2,600.

More than 100 Fixed Efficiency Standards

More than 450 industrial plants and organizations scattered throughout the city have reported 100 per cent membership enrollment to date. Barnard College freshmen are com-peting with freshmen in twenty-three membership enrollment to date. Among them is the Committee on Pubother women's colleges to set a standard of physical efficiency by which students elsewhere may be tested. The competition is the outcome of a plan devised by Miss Agnes R. Wayman, head of the physical education department of Barnard, Columbia University's undergraduate department for young women. By this plan, the first of its kind, physical ability may be measured in the same way that mental ability is registered by psychologic.

which are being given, the authorities can determine the "normal" score for future tests.

This will mean, according to Miss Wayman, that a girl immediately can be placed in the gymnastic class best fitted to her. If she has a high score, indicating unusual physical efficiency, after the first term she may be excused from regular gymnastic work and choose an athletic activity. Score cards will show where any deficiency lies, and the student will be assisted to overcome the handicap.

Great interest is being shown by students wherever the tests are being tried, and the sponsors believe it will create a constant tendency to raise the standard of health. As records for each class and college are obtained, the spirit of rivalry will add an incentive to individual effort, it is believed.

The test as now in use at Barnerd is in three parts, medical, anthropometric and motor ability. In the latter

Army Staff Plans Highways Metropolitan Acquires Several Along Country's Boundaries

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- The Army General Staff's plans for military high-ways in certain vital areas along the nation's boundaries, against which any nation's boundaries, against which any invasion of the country probably would be directed, have been placed in the hands of engineers of the Bureau of Public Roads, and are being incorporated in the Federal-aid highways system. The roads will become strategic lines of supply, connecting centers of production and storage and industrial centers with the vital military areas outlined by the Army General Staff, which has been studying the subject since 1919.
